Thank you for sending me a copy of the draft report on Very Large Data Bases. I have [Redacted] permission to disseminate it further to the interagency membership of the Intelligence Information Handling Committee (IHC).

STAT

Because of your short deadline, it is unlikely that I will be able to provide you with reactions that might be incorporated in the next draft of this report. However, I will pass them on to [Redacted] and I will send you a letter with those comments even though it may arrive too late to be immediately useful to you.

I was informed of your 29-30 meeting by [Redacted] TRW, with whom I have a continuing contact, as well as by [Redacted]. The latter invited me to attend but it is not practicable this time. However, I shall look forward to eventually meeting you. You are embarked on a very ambitious subject, but because of its timeliness and importance I certainly wish you well and will do what I can to assist you.
